Sporočilo umetnikov obiskovalcem

Program »L'ultimo romano« je posvečen istoimenskemu solo albumu, ki sem ga posnel v Italiji pozimi leta 2016 na izjemni lokaciji v Palazzo dei Papi v Viterbu. Na ta album sem izjemno navezan, zame je pomemben iz več razlogov. Program, ki ga bom predstavil na koncertu na festivalu Seviqc Brežice, vključuje glasbo skladatelja Giovannija Zambonija romana, protagonista tega albuma, pa tudi drugih rimskeh lutnjistov in kitaristov 17. in 18. stoletja. Program je čudovit, poln izjemne neposrednosti, gostote, strogosti, veličastja in izrazne odkritosti. Izvajal ga bom na arhilutnji in kitari, zvezdah inštrumentalnega baroka in z njima pričaral tiste vidike, tiste večne lastnosti, ki so šle skozi stoletja, ne da bi sploh izginile zaradi svojega brezčasnega značaja. Oživijo izgubljeni zvoki mesta, ki se še danes, morda le tiše in bolj skrito, odraža v njih.

O projektu

Da bi razumeli rimske glasbe, se moramo ozreti na mestno krajino: številne cerkve, veličastne starodavne ruševine, ki stekane z urbanim tkivom ustvarajo spektakularno povezanost stoletij, velike zelene površine, barve palač, velikodusna razsvetljava in bleščeče jasno nebo. Razkošje, slovesnost in ironična lahkoost so temelji, na katerih je zgrajena rimska glasbena šola. Od renesanse do baroka in vzvišena nad raznolikostjo posameznih stilov živi ta osnovna koda naprej: slovesnost in teža se stavlja zaviti z brezkrbno lahkoostjo. Arhilutnja in kitara, zvezdi inštrumentalnega baroka, pričarata oba obraza te večne značilnosti, ki traja stoletja, ne da bi zaradi svojega brezčasnega značaja izginila.

Artists' message to visitors

The "L'ultimo romano" program is dedicated to the eponymous solo album, which I recorded in Italy in the winter of 2016, in the Palazzo dei Papi in Viterbo, an extraordinary location. I am very attached to this record, it was important for me, for several reasons. The program that I will propose in concert at the Seviqc Brežice Festival will include music by composer Giovanni Zamboni romano, the protagonist of the album, and other lutenists and guitarists from Rome in the 17th and 18th centuries. This repertoire is wonderful, of extraordinary immediacy, density, rigor, majesty and expressive frankness. I will play archlute and guitar, "star" instruments of the Baroque, conjure up those both facets, those eternal traits that went through the centuries without ever going out of style because of their timeless character. They revive the lost sound of a city that still nowadays, if perhaps more softly and secretly, is reflected in them.

About the project

In order to understand Roman music, one should consider the cityscape: the many churches, the majestic ancient ruins which – perfectly inserted into the urban fabric, produce a spectacular stratification of centuries – the large green spaces, the colour of the palaces, the generous light, the dazzlingly clear sky. Opulence, solemnity and ironic lightness are the foundations upon which the Roman music school is built. From Renaissance to the Baroque age – overriding the diversity of individual styles – this basic code lives on: solemnity and gravity plus a certain crafty and carefree lightness. Archlute and guitar, "star" instruments of the Baroque, conjure up those both facets, those eternal traits that went through the centuries without ever going out of style because of their timeless character.

O koncertnem programu

Strogost kontrapunkta Rimske šole, neposredna lahketnost modnih pesmi za kitaro, lahketna virtuoznost, vlijudna in spevna ljubkost: to so barve velike freske Večnega mesta. Od poznega 16. pa vse do 18. stoletja so avtorji, kot Lorenzino, Kapsberger, Valdambrini, Zamboni svojemu imenu s ponosom dodajali »romano« in kljub svojim različnostim izražali isti kompozicijski duh gostote, strogosti, veličastnosti in izrazne neposrednosti.

About the concert programme

The contrapuntal rigour of the "Roman school", the immediate lightness of fashionable songs played on the guitar, lightspeed virtuosity, courteous and tuneful grace: those are the colours that paint the great fresco on the Eternal City. Since the late 16th century and well into the 18th, such authors as Lorenzino, Kapsberger, Valdambrini, Zamboni – who proudly style themselves "romano" next to their name – use to display, despite their diverse individual characteristics, the same compositional spirit; one made of density, rigour, majesty and expressive directness.

Da bi razumeli rimsko glasbo, se moramo ozreti na mestno krajino: številne cerkve, veličastne starodavne ruševine, ki stekane z urbanim tkivom ustvarjajo spektakularno povezanost s stoletji, velike zelene površine, barve palač, velikodušna razsvetljava in blešeče jasno nebo.

Vse te lastnosti, ki združujejo »moderni« barok z antiko, so z ulicami središča Rima natančno zrcalo grobega kontrapunkta, povezanega z melodično jasnostjo glasov. Razkošje, slovesnost in ironična lahketnost so temelji, na katerih je zgrajena rimska glasbena šola. Od renesanse do baroka – ko prevlada nad raznolikostjo posameznih stilov - ta osnovna koda živi naprej: slovesnost in gravitacija ter določena zvita in brezskrbna lahketnost. Arhilutnja in kitara, zvezdi inštrumentalnega baroka, pričarata oba obraza te večne značilnosti, ki traja stoletja, ne da bi zaradi svojega brezčasnega značaja izginila. Oživljata izgubljeni zvoki mesta, ki se še danes, morda le tiše in bolj zakrito, odraža z njima.

Rojen leta 1983 v Rimu, je študiral klasično kitaro. Pri osemnajstih je, globoko zaljubljen v staro glasbo, kupil lutnjo brez kakršnega koli znanja, kako jo sploh igrati. Po tem je študiral lutnjo pri Andrei Damiani na konservatoriju Santa Cecilia v Rimu, kjer je diplomiral z najboljšimi ocenami. Iz teorbe in baročne kitare je magistriral na Staatliche Hochschule für Musik v Trossingenu v Nemčiji pri Rolfu Lislevandu, prav tako z najboljšimi ocenami. Na univerzi Tor Vergata v Rimu je z odliko diplomiral iz filozofije in uspešno zagovarjal doktorsko disertacijo o odnosih med glasbo iz 18. stoletja in francoskimi filozofi.
