Michele Bolla: klavir s klavirci / fortepiano

Paolo Faldi, klasična oboa / classical oboe

Elisa Bognetti, klasični rog / classical horn

Stefano Sopranzi, klasični fagot / classical bassoon

Tipke v vetru / Keys in the wind

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart (Quintuor, K 452), Ludwig van Beethoven (GRAND QUINTETTO, Oeuvre 16)

Kvinteti za klavir s klavirci (fortepiano) in pihala so v zgodovini glasbe zelo redki. Prva ohranjena skladba je kvintet Wolfganga Amadeusa Mozarta, tudi v 19. stoletju pa je le malo skladateljev pisalo za to posebno zasedbo (npr. Rimski-Korsakov). V klasični dobi so za klavir in pihalni kvartet pisali le Mozart, Beethoven in Danzi. Proti koncu 18. stoletja so se pihala mehansko spreminjala in razvila drugačen zven ter melodiko v primerjavi z baročnimi instrumenti. Novi instrumenti, kot je klarinet, so se uveljavili v številnih orkestrih, zanje pa je bilo napisanih veliko solističnih koncertov. Izdelovalci rogov so začeli vgrajevati ventile, vendar se je »naravni« rog uporabljal vse do časa Brahmsa. Fagot in oboa sta imela drugačen in zelo zapleten razvoj, a sta v osnovi ostala nespremenjena vse do sredine 19. stoletja.

Quintets for the fortepiano and wind instruments are very uncommon in the history of music. The earliest surviving one is Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart's Quintet, but in the 19th century certain composers such as Rimsky-Korsakoff also wrote for this unusual kind of ensemble. In the classical era, only Mozart, Beethoven and Danzi composed for the fortepiano and wind quartet instruments. Their structure of wind instruments began to change at the end of the 18th century to the extent that they developed different sounds and tunes from those of the Baroque era. New instruments like the clarinet were played in many orchestras and many solo concertos were written for it. Horn makers began to insert valves in the instrument, but the "ancient" horn was still used right until Brahms' compositions. The bassoon and oboe had a different and very complicated development, but remained largely unchanged until the mid-19th century.

Palestrina nikoli ni opustil polifonega sloga, ki predstavlja hkrati njegov vrhunec in končni razvoj. Med vsemi deli tega Princeps musicae je najbolj reprezentativna Visoka pesem. Zdi se, da že od daleč zaznava zgodnje poskuse recitar cantando, ki bodo pozneje vodili v zlato dobo opere. Naša interpretacija tega dela, ki izhaja iz teh muzikoloških spoznanj, zavestno odstopa od tradicionalne vokalne izvedbe a cappella. Izvajamo le melodični liniji obeh protagonistov, Šulamite in Salomona, medtem ko ostale glasove prevzamejo instrumenti, kot so renesančna prečna flauta, renesančna kitara in lutnja. Takšen pristop ustvari raznoliko zvočno tapiserijo, ki združuje ekspanzivno fraziranje in bogat zven glasov ter flaute s kristalno zračnostjo brenkal.

Palestrina never abandoned the polyphonic style, for which he stands as both the pinnacle and its final evolution. Among all the compositions by the Princeps musicae, the Song of Songs is the most representative. It seems to glimpse, albeit distantly, the early experiments of Recitar cantando, which would eventually lead to the grand era of opera. Our interpretation of the work, stemming from these musicological insights, takes a different path from the traditional a cappella vocal arrangement. Only the melodic lines of the two protagonists, Shulamite and Solomon, are sung, while the remaining parts are played by instruments like the Renaissance transverse flute, Renaissance guitar, and lute. This approach creates a varied sonic tapestry, blending the expansive phrasing and rich sound of the voices and flute with the crystalline airiness of the plucked instruments.

Weiss

solistična dela iz Londonskega rokopisa / solo works from the London Manuscript

Silvius Leopold Weiss je bil v svojem času izjemno cenjen glasbenik, ki je večino poklicnega življenja preživel kot najbolje plačan glasbenik na dvoru v Dresdnu. Slovel je kot vrhunski lutnjist, ustvarjal in se družil z umetniki, kot so Johann Sebastian Bach, Georg Friedrich Händel, Antonio Vivaldi in drugi. Čeprav njegove skladbe za časa življenja niso bile izdane, nam je – kljub temu da je velik del njegovega opusa izgubljen – zapustil okoli 650 skladb za lutnjo, za lutnjo v komornih zasedbah ter koncerte za lutnjo. Na koncertu bodo predstavljene tri sonate in Tombeau iz londonskega rokopisa, ki poleg rokopisa iz Dresdna velja za najpomembnejši in najobsežnejši vir njegove glasbe. Čeprav gre za skladbe istega skladatelja in v podobnih oblikah (tri sonate), gre za kontrastna dela visoke umetniške vrednosti, ki s svojo podrobnostjo, slogom, okraski in invencijo ponujajo pomembno okno v kulturo in umetnost Evrope v prvi polovici 18. stoletja.

Silvius Leopold Weiss was an extremely respected musician in his time, who spent most of his professional career as the highest paid musician at the Dresden court. He was renowned as a top lutenist, creating and socializing with artists such as Bach, Handel, Vivaldi and others. His compositions were not published during his lifetime, but even though much of his vast opus is lost, he left us around 650 pieces for lute, lute in chamber ensembles and lute concertos. The concert will feature three sonatas and the Tombeau from the London manuscript, which, along with the Dresden manuscript, is considered the most important and contains the most compositions. Although these are compositions by the same composer in similar forms (3 sonatas), they are contrasting works of high artistic quality, which, with their intricate artistry, style, ornamentation and invention, are an important window into the culture and art of Europe in the first half of the 18th century.

Baroque Jukebox

A genuine Baroque concert for children and families

The concert programme Baroque Jukebox offers a rich and colourful selection of Baroque pieces, guiding the audience through diverse musical landscapes of 17th- and 18th-century Europe. From the dance rhythms of the Italian Bergamasca by Marco Uccellini to the lively sounds of Spring by Antonio Vivaldi and the famous Hallelujah from Handel's Messiah, listeners will experience both tender lyrical moments and uplifting, powerful highlights. The programme also features more serene and meditative works, such as the Musette by Johann Sebastian Bach and the timeless English folk song Greensleeves. Included are also the well-known Ciaccona by Tarquinio Merula, the gentle Canon in D major by Johann Pachelbel, and the majestic Prelude from the Te Deum by Marc-Antoine Charpentier – recognised by many as the Eurovision fanfare. Special attention is given to early Baroque composers such as Girolamo Frescobaldi and Henry Purcell, whose music paved the way for later Baroque masters. The programme is designed to appeal to audiences of all ages – from lovers of early music to the youngest listeners who are just discovering it.

Johann Sebastian Bach

Preludiji, fuge in koralne predigre / Preludes, Fugues and Chorale Preludes

Po vzoru Bachove »Velike nemške orgelske maše«, kjer mašni ordinarij (Gospod, usmili se; Slava; Vera; Svet; Jagnje božje) in mašni proprij (vstop; darovanje; obhajilo; zaključek) nadomeščajo orgelski preludiji, fuge in koralne predigre, je z izborom najbolj prepoznavnih in hkrati tehničnih orgelskih del nastal program, ki od Preludija v Es-duru – po obliki francoske uverture –, koralnih prediger, Tokate in fuge v d-molu, tvori lok »uglasbene« liturgije vse do trojne fuge, ki to »orgelsko mašo«, tako značilno za obdobje baroka, tudi sklene. Bachov izjemen smisel za uglasbitev različnih čustvenih stanj ter obvladovanje kontrapunkta in polifonije nas prepričata še danes, saj s svojo kontemplativno močjo in neke vrste monotonijo poslušalca umirita ter ga pripravita na umetniško oziroma duhovno doživetje.

Following the example of Bach's "Great German Organ Mass", where the mass ordinary (Kyrie, Gloria, Credo, Sanctus, Agnus Dei) and the mass proper (Introit, Offertory, Communion, Concluding rite) are replaced by organ preludes, fugues and chorale preludes, a selection of the most recognizable and at the same time important organ works has been created. These range from the Prelude in E flat major (a French overture in form), the chorale preludes, the Toccata and Fugue in D minor, forms the arc of the "musical" liturgy right up to the triple fugue, which also concludes the "organ mass", a form characteristic of the Baroque period. Bach's exceptional sense for setting different emotional states to music and his mastery of counterpoint and polyphony still keep us enthralled today, since with their contemplative power and harmony they calm the listener and prepare them for an artistic and spiritual experience.

Stylus phantasticus je edinstven glasbeni prispevek, ki ponuja vpogled v določen zgodovinski trenutek, prežet z družbenimi in umetniškimi pretresi. Vpliv tridesetletne vojne je Evropo pustil v globoko pretresenem stanju. Kot vedno je glasba popoln odraz časa, skozi katerega gre človeštvo. To je priložnost, da se vrnemo v tisti težak, a obenem ustvarjalen zgodovinski trenutek ter se naučimo ceniti, kako so različni skladatelji – kot so Buxtehude, Pachelbel, Rosenmüller, Reincken, Muffat in veliki genij Bach – ta čas ujeli v svojih delih. Njihove skladbe predstavljajo izjemen prikaz glasbenih in tehničnih možnosti, iskanje notranjega glasu vsakega posameznega ustvarjalca, priložnost, da skozi godala izrazijo svoj osebni umetniški svet – z instrumenti, ki lahko zazvenijo kot najbolj angelski ali najbolj strastni. Zasedba z dvema violinama, violo da gamba in čembalom bo naslikala bogato podobo nemške glasbene pokrajine, ki se bo sklenila s figuro Bacha – mogočnim oceanom, v katerega se zlivajo vse reke.

Stylus Phantasticus

Glasbena oaza med vojnami / A musical oasis between wars: Johann Rosenmüller, Dietrich Buxtehude, Georg Muffat, Johann Adam Reincken, Johann Pachelbel, Johann Sebastian Bach

Stylus Phantasticus is a singular musical offer that depicts a certain historical moment full of social and artistic happenings. The impact of the 30 years' War left Europe in a really convulse state. As always, music is a perfect picture of the moment that humankind is going through. So, this is an opportunity to travel back to that difficult and creative moment of history, being able to appreciate how different composers as Buxtehude, Pachelbel, Rosenmüller, Reincken, Muffat and the great genius Bach captured this historical moment into their works. They represent a great display of musical and technical resources, a way of looking for the inner voice of each composer, a chance to show the personal creative universe through string instruments, that can become the most angelical and the most passionate one. The formation of two violins, viola da gamba and harpsichord will draw a rich painting of the German scenery culminating with the figure of Bach, the huge ocean where all the rivers flow.

Panta Rhei

renesančna glasba o poteku in spremembah / Renaissance music of flow and change: le Jeune, Arcadelt, Lassus, Gero, Baston, de Castro, Cornet, Faignt, Dowland, Weelkes, Ghiselin, Isaac, Tromboncino, de Ronsard, le petit, Willaert

Od planetov in zvezd, ki se vrtnčijo po nebesnem svodu, do najnižjih bitij na zemlji – gibanje in spremembe so v nas in povsod okoli nas: tekoči potok ali vino, ki lije iz steklenice, utripajoči plameni ognja, dan, ki prehaja v noč, tedni, ki postajajo meseci, postajajo leta, mladost, ki se prevesi v starost. Vse teče – panta rhei! Po tem starodavnem izrazu, ki je prestal preizkušnje časa, se naš program posveča temam vsega, kar teče in se spreminja – tako v nas kot v svetu okoli nas. Na prstih se sprehaja skozi moralizatorske ode o nestalnosti Clauda Le Jeunea, teče skozi Isaakovo Die Brunnlein, die da fließen in priljubljeno pivsko melodijo Quant je bois du vin claret tout tourne, ter se izgublja v zamišljenih pesmih o minevanju časa pri Dowlandu in Arcadelu. Besedila prepletajo verze o vodi in vinu, treznosti in pijanosti, sreči in melanholiji, življenju in smrti – vse v tekočem utripu in ritmu, v melodiji in harmoniji glasbe – zvonečemu utelešenju panta rhei.

From the planets and stars whirling about the heavens to the lowliest of creatures on earth, motion and change are in us and all about us: a flowing stream or wine from a bottle, flickering flames of a fire, day turning to night, weeks becoming months becoming years, youth and old age. Everything flows: “panta rhei”! Following this ancient expression that has withstood the tests of time, our programme traverses themes of all that flows and changes, both within us and in the world around us. It tiptoes through moralizing odes about inconstance by Claude le Jeune, flows through Isaac’s “Die Brunnlein die da fließen” and the popular drinking tune “Quant je bois du vin claret tout tourne,” and gets lost in wistful songs about the passage of time by Dowland and Arcadelt. The texts spin verses about water and wine, sobriety and drunkenness, happiness and melancholy, and life and death, all to the flowing pulse and rhythm, melody and harmony of music—a sounding embodiment of “panta rhei”.

Pariška eleganca in sijaj

Parisian elegance and splendour

Pierre-Danican Philidor, Marin Marais, Georg Philipp Telemann

Pod vplivom kralja Ludvika XIV., velikega podpornika umetnosti, se je francoska baročna instrumentalna glasba razvijala v znamenju veličine, sijaja in elegance. Na koncertnem sporedu sta suiti dveh francoskih skladateljev, ki sta bila mojstra in virtuoza na svojem glasbilu. Pierre Danican Philidor in Marin Marais sta sledila idealom francoskega baročnega sloga. Tudi Telemann se je preizkusil v vplivu francoskega stila – v uvodnem Prélude svojega Pariškega kvarteta. Pierre Danican Philidor je bil član cenjene francoske glasbene dinastije. Tako kot številni njegovi sorodniki je igral oboo in bil član več orkestrov na kraljevem dvoru. Marin Marais je že zgodaj zaslovel kot virtuoz na violi da gamba. Pri devetnajstih je nastopal v Pariški operi, pozneje pa je zablestel kot komorni glasbenik na dvoru Ludvika XIV. Pod Lullyjevim mentorstvom je začel komponirati ter leta 1692 izdal šest suit za dva melodijska instrumenta in basso continuo.

Under the influence of King Louis XIV, who was a great supporter of the arts, French Baroque instrumental music developed in a sign of grandeur, splendor and elegance. The concert program includes suites by two French composers who were masters and virtuosos on their instruments. Pierre Danican Philidor and Marin Marais followed the ideals of French Baroque music. Telemann also tested the influence of French music in the opening Prelude of the Paris Quartet. Pierre Danican Philidor was a member of a highly respected French musical dynasty. Like many of his musical relatives, he played the oboe and was a member of several orchestras at the royal court. Marain Marais became famous early on as a virtuoso on the viola da gamba. At the age of nineteen, he played at the Paris Opera, and later shone as a chamber musician at the court of Louis XIV. Under the mentorship of Lully, he began composing and in 1692 published six suites for two melodic instruments and basso continuo.

Sodelovanje čembalistke Eve Dolinšek ter koreografinje in plesalke Anje Mejač se tokrat srečuje v brezčasnem prostoru Goldbergovih variacij. Igrati partituro – pozabiti del sebe. Goldbergove variacije za čembalistko predstavljajo življenjski cikel: začnejo in končajo se z isto mislijo. Plesati Goldberga pomeni plesati glasbo. Za flamenko plesalca, katerega koraki so slišni, pa to pomeni tudi resnično poznati glasbo. Koreografska izhodišča nastajajo iz študija glasbene partiture; linijo leve roke koreografinja prevaja v zvočno-prostorske kompozicije, ki jih vpenja v tok improvizacije v plesu. Kako lahko zares spoznaš tako kompleksno kompozicijo? Tako, da jo vzameš in narediš za svojo. Glasbeno gre za zahtevno solistično delo, tudi v svetu koreografije si je plesati Goldberga že pridobilo svojevrsten status. Izvajalki snujeta pogovor v večglasju različnih obdobj, slogov, časov in prostorov. Morda pa imata barok in flamenko veliko skupnega – oba z globoko bolečino, zavito v tančico grandioznosti.

a Dance Concert (Two Solos in Dialogue)

Clavier Übung bestehend in einer ARIA mit verschiedenen Veränderungen vors Clavicimbal mit 2 Manualen. Denen Liebhabern zur Gemüths- Ergetzung verfertigt von Hrn. Johann Sebastian Bach Königl. Pohl. u. Churfl. Sächs. Hoff-Compositeur, Capellmeister, u. Directore Chori Musici in Leipzig. Nürnberg in Verlegung Balthasar Schmidts (BWV 988)

The collaboration between harpsichordist Eva Dolinšek and choreographer and dancer Anja Mejač unfolds this time in the timeless space of the Goldberg Variations. To play the score – to forget a part of oneself. For the harpsichordist, the Goldberg Variations represent a life cycle: they begin and end with the same idea. To dance Goldberg is to dance the music. For a flamenco dancer, whose steps are heard, it also means truly knowing the music. The choreographic foundations emerge from the study of the musical score; the choreographer translates the left-hand line into sonic and spatial compositions, weaving them into the flow of improvisation in dance. How can one truly understand such a complex composition? By taking it and making it one's own. Musically, it is a demanding solo work; in the world of choreography too, dancing Goldberg has earned a status of its own. The two performers craft a dialogue in polyphony – across periods, styles, times, and spaces. Perhaps baroque and flamenco have more in common than we might think – both wrapped in a veil of grandeur, both steeped in deep sorrow.

Los pájaros vuelan vas popelje v svet, kjer glasba poleti na krilih nežnega tria: kljunastih flavt, viole da gamba in baročne harfe. Navdihnjene s podobo taščice – simbola selitve in tihe vztrajnosti – se podamo na pot od skrivnostnih zvenov srednjeveške Španije do prefinjene evropske baročne umetnosti. Tako kot ptice sledijo starodavnim potem čez nebo in skozi letne čase, tudi me prestopamo meje časa in prostora ter prepletamo sefardske uspavanke, ljudske melodije in baročno komorno glasbo z basom continuom. To ni le selitev zvoka, temveč tudi duha – skupnih človeških hrepenenj po domu, lepoti in povezanosti. Naj vas glasba ponese skozi stoletja spomina in čudenja, kot bi vas nesel utrip kril taščice.

Los pájaros vuelan invites you into a world where music takes flight on the wings of a delicate trio: recorder, viola da gamba, and baroque triple harp. Inspired by the European robin—a symbol of migration and quiet resilience—we set out on a journey from the mystical sounds of medieval Spain to the refined elegance of the Baroque. Just as birds follow ancient paths across skies and seasons, we too cross the borders of time and place, interweaving Sephardic lullabies, folk melodies, and ornate chamber music with basso continuo. This is a migration not only of sound, but of spirit—a shared human longing for home, beauty, and connection. Let the music carry you through centuries of memory and wonder, as if borne on the flutter of a robin's wings.

Vivaldi & Tartini

Z obeh strani Jadrana / From both sides of the Adriatic

Koncertni program zaključnega koncerta festivala Seviqc je posvečen predstavitvi dveh velikih skladateljev z obeh strani Jadrana: Antonia Vivaldija in Giuseppeja Tartinija. Giuseppe Tartini, osrednji skladatelj, ki ga ansambel Il Terzo Suono vključuje v vse svoje koncerte, sodi med največje violinske virtuozne in skladatelje svojega časa. Ob delih Corellija, Veracinija, Locatellija in drugih baročnih mojstrov ansambel Il Terzo Suono predstavlja slovensko kulturno dediščino po vsej Evropi. Večkrat je praznoval do tedaj še neodkrita skladba tega velikega mojstra – denimo leta 2004 Sonata, predvidoma napisano za violončelo, saj je notni zapis v basovskem in tenorskem ključu. Zaključni koncert festivala bo ansambel sklenil s slovito Vivaldijevo La Follia. Follia pomeni »norost« – in prav z njo se Il Terzo Suono in Vivaldi poigravata v najbolj briljantnih vragolijah virtuoznosti.

The concert programme of the closing concert of the Seviqc festival is a presentation of two great composers from both sides of the Adriatic: Antonio Vivaldi and Giuseppe Tartini. Giuseppe Tartini, as a key composer, whom the Il Terzo Suono ensemble includes in all its concerts, is one of the greatest violin virtuosos and composers of his time. Along with the works of Corelli, Veracini, Locatelli and other baroque masters, Il Terzo Suono represents the cultural heritage of Slovenia throughout Europe. The ensemble has repeatedly premiered previously undiscovered compositions by the great composer, such as the Sonata in 2004, presumably written for the cello, because the musical notation is in the bass and tenor clef. Il Terzo Suono will conclude the closing concert of the festival with Vivaldi's famous La Follia. Follia means madness, and Il Terzo Suono and Vivaldi also play with the most brilliant antics of virtuosity.
